

December of 2018

Dear Friends and Family,

We just had Thanksgiving, and my mind rolls with the multitude of things we have which to be thankful for. One of my favorite verses is:

Ex. 34:10 "And he said, Behold, I make a covenant: before all thy people I will do marvels, such as have not been done in all the earth, nor in any nation: and all the people among which thou art shall see the work of the LORD: for it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee."

God told the children of Israel this after the miracle of the Red Sea. That is like saying, "You ain't seen nothing yet!" Can you imagine crossing the Red Sea and God telling you that you have even greater things to look forward to?

Guess what else is real? The last verse in God's Word is:

Rev. 22:21 "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen."

Even though it is the last verse, the miracles did not stop coming our way. Greg and I have beheld such miracles this year that we are humbled. Wonder of wonders, God truly loves, cares and answers prayers from the tiniest muttered request to the prayer for a whole herd of cattle He owns out of those thousand hills. Yes, He has done it, is doing it and will continue to answer prayers.

Greg and I would like to thank all our family and friends that have supported us with those precious prayers. This side of Heaven, you will never know the mighty hand of support you have been to us!

Love and prayers,

Greg and Sandy Waggoner

P.S. Yes this was written by a girl, and I know it sounds like it, but I wanted to share my heart with you all for your goodness and love toward my husband and me.

We pray you have a Merry Christmas and an, "You ain't seen nothing yet!" moment!
